For Immediate Release:

Are You Growing Your Business With Google Maps?

Everywhere you look today, it seems as if businesses are integrating Google Mapping technology into their product or service. Whether it's the new iPhone or Trulia.com, consumers are quickly becoming familiar and comfortable with using Google Maps in everyday life to locate businesses, driving directions and real estate. But exactly how are you capitalizing on the Google Map revolution to grow your business?

For the many real estate firms who choose to showcase their listings on an interactive Google Map, they are quickly rising above their competition by offering a better customer experience with the latest web 2.0 technology. Google Maps clearly offers many benefits to the consumer and real estate firm alike. For the consumer, Google Maps greatly simplifies searching and locating properties visually whereas the firm benefits from simplified property marketing and integrated aerial real estate photography of any listing!

If you're considering upgrading your website to offer Google Mapping, consider the Pro Web Property Manager. It's a complete business solution for real estate firms who are looking to become the envy of their competition. With the Pro Web Property Manager, your real estate and rental listings are automatically plotted directly on the Google Map. No programming knowledge or experience is required. For more information, please contact Professional Web Designs at 941-922-3003. Ask about our hands-on, full-access.
